

Review of Mag-Tagz Jewelry for Girls

I'm not a big fan of flashy jewelry for young girls, but my tween daughter does like to accessorize. When we were given a Mag-Tagz necklace and charm to test out recently, I was really surprised at how tasteful and fun it was! Here is what we loved about Mag-Tagz:

The necklace was sturdy and easy for her to put on herself. It came with a standard sunshine "tag" that contained a magnet in the center, powerful enough to place any of the optional, interchangeable "tagz" right on top. Even active girls won't have to worry about the "tagz" falling off, and when they are ready for a new look, they just switch it out!

Mag-Tagz has an interactive element to the website that I really appreciate. Kids can design their own tag and submit it for consideration. The winner will get their design made into a tag, and will get their very own necklace to sport it on! Entry information can be found on their contest page.

You can also play the "Tag, You're It" game (which is like a treasure hunt.) Find all four clues scattered about the website, and answer a question about them to win a special-edition tag. All correct entries will be placed into a drawing for a Nintendo Wii game console! Cool!

My 11-year old can't wait to begin collecting all the Tagz so that they match with all her outfits. What a great way to express yourself!

SAVE - Our readers can get 20% off their purchase of $20 or more at Mag-Tagz! Just use code blogger20 at checkout.

WIN - Wanna get one for a special girl in your life? One lucky Lille Punkin' reader can get a necklace with either the bee or green earth designed Tagz (which were created by the winners of the last design contest.)
